9 v.

Defendants' Third Motion for Limited
Modification of Asset Freeze (ECF No. 155)

10 HEALTH FORMULAS, LLC, et al.,

11 Defendants.

12 I. INTRODUCTION

13 This matter is before the Court on Defendants Danelle Miller and Jason Miller's Third 14 Motion for Limited Modification of the Asset Freeze (ECF No. 155) that has been in place since 15 the Court first entered a Temporary Restraining Order (TRO) against Defendants on October 9, 16 2014. See ECF No. 12. For the reasons stated below, Defendants' motion is denied.

18 II. BACKGROUND

19 On December 4, 2014, following a hearing, the Court issued an order modifying the asset 20 freeze for a three-month period. ECF No. 77. Specifically, the Court ordered the Receiver to 21 disburse $30,000 per month in attorneys' fees to Ifrah PLLC and Snell & Wilmer LLC and to 22 disburse $1,500 per month to Defendants Jason and Danelle Miller ("the Millers") for living and 23 personal expenses. Id. The Court also authorized the Receiver to make direct bill payments of up 24 to $10,000 per month for certain specified expenses of the Millers. Id. This Order expired on 25 February 28, 2014. Id. at 5. At a status conference on February 18, 2015, the Millers and the 26 corporate Defendants (together, the "Miller-related Defendants") made an oral motion to extend 27 the order modifying the asset freeze to permit the continued disbursement of funds for living
28 expenses and attorneys' fees. Minutes of Proceedings, ECF No. 121. The Court extended its Order

1 for one month with respect to the disbursement of $1,500 for the Millers' personal expenses, but 2 did not extend it for any other payments. Id.

3 On February 23, 2015, the Miller-related Defendants filed a second motion requesting a 4 modification of the asset freeze, in which they essentially requested an extension of the Court's 5 original modification order of December 4, 2014. ECF No. 123. On March 25, 2015, following a 6 hearing, the Court entered an Order granting that motion in part and denying it in part. ECF No.
7 138. The Court found good cause to permit a continued release of funds for personal expenses,
8 health insurance payments, and child care payments, but not for attorneys' fees. Id. at 2. That Order
9 expired on June 30, 2015. Id. at 3.

10 On May 6, 2015, the Court entered a Preliminary Injunction Order against the Defendants 11 named in the FTC's original Complaint. ECF No. 149. In its Preliminary Injunction Order, the 12 Court concluded that the FTC was likely to succeed on the merits of its claims against Defendants 13 and that the Millers were subject to personal liability for both injunctive and monetary relief for 14 Defendants' alleged violations of the FTC Act and other provisions of federal law. Id. The Court
15 also maintained the asset freeze and temporary receivership initially ordered in the TRO. Id.

16 On June 15, 2015, the Millers filed the motion currently before the Court. ECF No. 155. In 17 their motion, the Millers request that the Court grant a three-month extension of its March 25, 2015
18 Order to permit the continued release of frozen funds for the Millers' living expenses, child support 19 payments, and health insurance payments.

20 21 III. LEGAL STANDARD

22 Section 13(b) of the FTC Act "gives the federal courts broad authority to fashion
23 appropriate remedies for violations of the Act," which includes "the authority to grant any ancillary
24 relief necessary to accomplish complete justice." F.T.C. v. Pantron I Corp., 33 F.3d 1088, 1102
25 (9th Cir. 1994) (citations omitted) (internal quotation marks omitted). This authority to grant 26 ancillary relief encompasses equitable powers such as the ordering of restitution, id., and the 27 freezing of assets, Reebok Intern., Ltd. v. Marnatech Enters., Inc., 970 F.2d 552, 560 (9th Cir.
28 1992); see also F.T.C. v. H.N. Singer, Inc., 668 F.2d 1107, 1112 (9th Cir. 1982) (district courts

1 have authority to freeze assets where necessary to preserve the possibility of future relief, if the 2 relief is of a kind the court has the power to give). The decision whether to freeze assets is within 3 the discretion of the district court. Reebok Intern., 970 F.2d at 563; S.E.C. v. Hickey, 322 F.3d
4 1123, 1132 (9th Cir. 2003). Before issuing such an order, however, a court must find a likelihood 5 that the assets will be dissipated or that monetary damages will otherwise not be recoverable.
6 Johnson v. Couturier, 572 F.3d 1067, 1086 (9th Cir. 2009).

7 8 IV. DISCUSSION

9 After review of the parties' briefs and the evidence submitted in connection with the 10 various motions requesting modifications of the asset freeze, the Court denies the Millers' request 11 for a third release of funds because it is not persuaded that other funds are not available to them.

12 As it stated in its Temporary Restraining Order and Preliminary Injunction Order, the Court 13 has found that the asset freeze is necessary to preserve the possibility of future relief because there 14 is a likelihood of dissipation of resources absent a freeze. TRO at 4, ECF No. 12; Tr. of Mot. Hrg.
15 11:21-25, 12:1-4, Nov. 25, 2014, ECF No. 72; Prelim. Inj. Order at 33, ECF No. 149. At the 16 hearing on the Millers' second motion requesting a temporary modification of the asset freeze, 17 held on March 23, 2015, the Court stated that it was not convinced that the Millers did not have 18 other funds available to them, particularly given that the accounting submitted by the Millers 19 showed that they received over $200,000 in "pocket cash" from 2010 to 2014—income that was 20 listed separately from their other itemized expenses (and therefore was not spent to cover costs 21 such as mortgage payments, food, home maintenance, car payments, or savings contributions, 22 among other expenses). ECF No. 118 at 431.

23 The Court remains unpersuaded that the Millers do not have other funds available to them
24 at this time. While the Millers state that they do not have an alternate source of "pocket cash," they 25 have not provided documentation of when or how those funds were spent, or how much may 26 potentially remain available to them.

27 The Court therefore finds that the Millers have not demonstrated that the funds currently 28 frozen are the only funds available to them to pay for living expenses, child support, and health

1 insurance. Given the Court's finding that the asset freeze is necessary to prevent the dissipation of 2 assets and that there are insufficient funds in the receivership estate to cover potential restitution
3 payments, the Court denies the Millers' request for an extension of its Order releasing funds for 4 those expenses.

5 The Court further finds that it has provided the Millers with more than sufficient time to 6 be able to obtain employment and/or some form of public assistance to address any personal or 7 familial needs. Previously, the Court exercised its discretion to assist them in this period of 8 transition. The Millers have had sufficient time to make arrangements and the Court will not 9 exercise its discretion to extend additional assistance from the funds that could be used to repay 10 victims of the alleged wrongdoing in this case.

12 V. CONCLUSION

13 For the reasons stated above,

14 IT IS HEREBY ORDERED that Defendants Danelle Miller and Jason Miller's Motion
15 for Limited Modification of Preliminary Injunction to Permit Access to Funds for Basic Living 16 Expenses (ECF No. 155) is DENIED WITHOUT PREJUDICE.
